

HNC / HND Computing and Systems Development

Interview Task

For your interview would bring with you a recent example of work you have completed.

This could be a web page, some coding / programming, a database design, personal project or any other relevant IT product you have created either through coursework or independently.